BUSINESS IDEAS

by Milo Cramer

Directed by Sandra Provost

An award-winning comedy about getting rich (or not?)

In English

“A thoughtful, heightened comedy... a curveball-throwing play about work, survival and the quest for a meaningful life.”

– The New York Times

Winner of the 21st Alliance/Keneda National Graduate Playwriting Competition, Business Ideas is an entertaining and thought-provoking comedy. In a too-cute café, a desperate mother and daughter brainstorm get-rich-quick schemes to pay for college (or maybe to make ends meet?). Meanwhile, their hapless server tries to network with a revolving cast of customers, all hilariously played by one actor. Inspired by playwright Milo Cramer’s own experiences with his enterprising mom, Business Ideas is a comedy about getting rich (or not?), and whether money really buys happiness – one cup of coffee at a time.
